PARTICIPANT CONDUCT

Each member and/or participant agrees to familiarise himself with all applicable rules and regulations prior to competing in an IHRA Australia sanctioned event.

These actions delay our program as well as making you sit in the hot protective clothing longer than necessary.
- Each member and/or participant expressly agrees that the act of entering an IHRA Australia sanctioned event shall constitute an agreement by him to be bound by all the rules and regulations covering the event. The participant also agrees to be bound by any of the decisions of the Meeting Director, and to release the Meeting Director, and all other events officials, from liability for all alleged erroneous decisions, and further gives IHRA Australia the right to alter any photographs taken of this vehicle during said event.

- If such conduct should take place during and Elimination run off, the race will automatically be forfeited to this opponent.
- Competitors taking matters into their own hands, without lodging a protest, will lose their rights for Tribunal action / proceedings, penalties and monetary fines will be sanctioned.
- Driver is responsible for the actions of his or her crew.
- Pit crew is defined by signing the appropriate crew documents and receiving an event crew wrist band.
- Any protest or appeals to general race regulations must be filed by the driver.

Social Media Policy

POLICY TITLE:	IHRA Australia Personnel, Stewards/Officials, Competitors, Team personal, Media Personal
PURPOSE:	Promote Responsible Use of Social Media
INTRODUCED:	May 2019
REVIEW FREQUENCY:	Annually
RESPONSIBLE:	IHRA Australia Media Department

Introduction

The IHRA Australia recognises that Social Media has increasing prevalence in both the professional and private lives of all members of the IHRA Australia community.

Social Media offers the opportunity for people to gather in online communities of shared interest and create, share or consume content in ways that can be beneficial to the sport of Drag Racing and IHRA Australia. We appreciate the value in using Social Media to build more meaningful relationships with fans, the racing community and other stakeholders.

Purpose

IHRA Australia aims to promote the responsible use of Social Media.

It is important that the reputation of IHRA Australia and the sport of Drag Racing is not tarnished by anyone using Social Media tools inappropriately, particularly in relation to content that might reference IHRA Australia, drag racing, racers, officials or administrators involved in the sport.

When someone clearly identifies their association as accredited media or otherwise with either IHRA Australia or within Drag Racing and/or discusses their involvement in the organisation in these types of forums they are expected to behave and express themselves appropriately, and in ways that are consistent with the values respected by IHRA Australia.

This policy provides guiding principles to follow when using Social Media and sets the expectations of IHRA Australia when those associated with the sport are engaging in Social Media.

Scope

This policy applies to accredited media, accredited team media and contractors representing either media organisations or race teams at IHRA Australia.

The policy covers all forms of Social Media. Social Media includes but is not limited to, such activities as:

- leaving product or service reviews on retailer sites, or customer review sites;
- taking part in online votes and polls;

INTERNATIONAL HOT ROD ASSOCIATION AUSTRALIA

IHRA Australia as an organisation, officials, members, racers, fans, colleagues, clients or sponsors.

Guiding Principles

Engaging in Social Media can have many positive benefits and is encouraged when it is done in the right way with respect and care for others and to ensure that the IHRA Australia brand is not compromised.

The Web is not anonymous. Anyone associating themselves with IHRA Australia should assume that everything they write or post can be traced back to them.

Social Media has blurred the lines between people's personal and professional time and space. It is important to understand that the impact of a person's Social Media presence can have repercussions in both their personal and professional lives.

When using the internet for professional or personal pursuits, all members of the IHRA Australia community must respect the brand of IHRA Australia and ensure the intellectual property of IHRA Australia and our relationships with sponsors and stakeholders is not compromised or brought into disrepute.

Specific Usage Principles

For all media and team media representatives associating themselves with IHRA Australia when using Social Media, such use of social media:

- must be consistent with IHRA Australia values of respect, integrity, inclusiveness, excellence, fun and people;
- must not use inappropriate, foul or offensive language including abbreviations that could reasonably be viewed as offensive;
- Must not contain or link to libellous, defamatory or harassing or bullying content. This also applies to the use of nicknames or illustrations;
- must not post images that could be reasonably considered offensive;
- must not comment on, or publish, information which is confidential or in any way sensitive to IHRA Australia, its sponsors or partners;
- must not bring IHRA Australia, staff or any partners into disrepute;
- must not involve the use of the IHRA Australia Brand to endorse or promote any product, opinion, cause or political candidate; and it must be abundantly clear to all readers that any and all opinion shared are those of the individual and do not represent or reflect the views of IHRA Australia.

Consideration Toward others when using Social Networking Sites

Social Networking sites allow photographs, videos and comments to be shared with thousands of other users. When using Social Media it must be recognised that it may not be appropriate to share photographs, videos and comments in this way.

For example, there may be an expectation that photographs taken at IHRA Australia events will not appear publicly on the internet. In certain circumstances posting such material could potentially breach the Privacy Act or inadvertently make IHRA Australia liable for breach of copyright.

All media associated with IHRA Australia should be considerate to others in such circumstances and should not post information when they have been asked not to, or consent has not been sought and given. They should also remove information about another person should they be asked to do so.

INTERNATIONAL HOT ROD ASSOCIATION AUSTRALIA

Under no circumstances should offensive comments be made online.

Branding and Intellectual Property

It is important that any trademarks belonging to IHRA Australia are not used in personal Social Media applications, except where such use can be considered incidental (where incidental is taken to mean “happening in subordinate conjunction with something else”). Trademarks include but are not limited to IHRA Australia logos.

Note that this Policy is designed to function alongside the terms and conditions lay out in the IHRA Australia Media Accreditation Application form, to be completed and signed each season.

Accredited Media and Team Media Representatives

At IHRA Australia we understand that there are a range of electronic tools to communicate and engage with fans, racing community and the wider community.

An IHRA Australia communications person will be appointed to provide accountability and control over material published on our Website and any related discussion groups or Social Media websites such as Facebook, YouTube or Twitter.

Breach of Policy

IHRA Australia will continually monitor online activity in relation to our venue and associated events.

If detected, a breach of this policy may result in disciplinary action being taken under the Code of Conduct. Depending on circumstances and who is involved, disciplinary action may include suspension or cancellation of competition privileges, verbal or written warnings or in serious cases, fines and / or individuals being suspended from the venue and or event.
